MEDIA RELEASE

FINALISTS ANNOUNCED FOR 2018 RIN AWARDS

Excitement is growing in the lead up to the 2018 Resource Industry Network Awards with finalists in each of the categories being announced.

The RIN Awards judging panel has gone through a record number of nomination submissions and revealed 21 finalists across the seven categories.

With so many challenges facing businesses on a daily basis, the RIN Awards are a positive way to celebrate the many accomplishments happening in the resources sector.

With the introduction of a new category this year – Striving for Diversity – the awards truly are an all-inclusive celebration of the local resources sector and its achievements.

CELEBRATING PEOPLE, INNOVATION & SUCCESS IN THE RESOURCE SERVICES SECTOR

<<From Previous page

Established in 2008, the awards showcase excellence in business and the significant contribution that they make to the regional economy and community.

The awards provide an opportunity to step back from day-to-day-business activity and make a valued assessment on achievements of your organisation and staff, as well as recognise staff for the effort they have contributed to your organisation.

Australian comedic entertainer Peter Berner will be the MC for the awards evening and will delight crowds with his intellectual humour and wit. Those interested in attending are encouraged to purchase their tickets early to secure their spot at what will be a fantastic evening of celebration.
